The vast majority of breast cancers express the guanine nucleotide-regulatory protein, Ras-related protein (RALA). In this study, we have established that transgenic mice that overexpress RALA (RALA TG mice) are predisposed to mammary tumors. To assess the role of RALA in mammary tumor formation, we examined the association of the RALA gene and the high-affinity GGT1 gene in breast tumors. Using an RALA-specific probe, we observed positive signals in 70% of breast tumors, even though no RALA mRNA was detected in these samples. Comparison of the RALA and GGT1 genes in three breast tumor cell lines identified a strong association (PWeekly Economic Updates – 04/28/17 I'm sure you are all looking for the low-down on the economy and what is going on with government policy.
