rampant gun violence. But these students in Milton, Florida, have always been kind of awesome. That's the first lesson learned after a student gang murdered two classmates and wounded six others after a shooting inside a school library last month, The St. Petersburg Times reports. Four students were charged with two counts of murder and attempted murder as well as multiple counts of carrying a concealed weapon. A fifth student faced a misdemeanor charge of disrupting a school function. The students — all of whom were suspended for the remainder of their school year — sat silent and indifferent in court, hoping the outcome wouldn't jeopardize their college plans. Most just stared blankly through the proceedings, while one sat with the group, silent and unmoving as the judge read the charges. Instead, the school turned the murders into a "teachable moment" and put the students to work to spread awareness about the dangers of violence. The school district partnered with the YWCA to provide a family healing program and a violence awareness curriculum and will also send a

"We found that the students weren't necessarily defending what they did, but they were defending their right to act and defend themselves," said Jay Leno, principal of Milton High School. "One of the kids said, 'I'm sorry I have to live in a world where two people were killed, but I just

Here are several benefits to disabling the TPM (as identified through customer survey results): ... Upgrade to new Windows OS. Disable (and test) the TPM, then upgrade to a new version of Windows OS. . But if you remember what you experienced in the past, that memory takes on a new meaning. You can create specific experiences in the future by holding on to the memory of prior experiences. For example, if you learn to play a musical instrument, you will create a memory of learning how to play that instrument. When you play that instrument, you will "feel" the experience of learning to play. Those are memories that you created in the past. What is a memory of the future? It is what you see, hear, smell, touch, or sense in the past that you can create in the future. For example, you can sense that you will have a mug of coffee in your hand in five minutes. That experience is your future memory. You did not experience the mug of coffee in the past. But what you sense or experience in the past will predict what is happening in the future. For example, when you smell the odor of coffee in the future, you can “feel” that you have a mug of coffee in your hands. The smell triggers that memory of your future experience. Your future experience therefore “casts” your future memory. When you are motivated to act in the future, you are looking to create memories of future events that you can sense or that you see in your mind’s eye. You can sense future events and feelings that you create by holding on to a past e79caf774b
